The 4th conference of the Israel Comparative Education Society will be held on Sunday 20 June 2021 at Tel Aviv University. The Israel Comparative Education Society aims to advance research and discourse on major topics in education in the global era, from diverse viewpoints and disciplines (sociology, anthropology, psychology of education, education economics, and political aspects of education). The Society welcomes works engaging with comparison between local case-studies, as well as those dealing with research on global and international aspects of education, such as assessment and evaluation, neoliberalism in education, global citizenship education, peace education, migration and education, Holocaust memory and genocide education, educating for human rights, gender, religion and education rights.

A central theme of the 4th annual conference is education in the era of crisis; however, we invite submission of abstracts from researchers who are engaged in other comparative aspects of education from an assortment of perspectives. We believe that the conference is an arena for presenting and discussing diverse topics in comparative and international education, as well as an opportunity to promote comparative research in education.

We hope to encourage research students who integrate, or are considering to integrate comparative aspects, to submit abstracts or proposals for panels. Abstracts should include the research goals, the theoretical framework, methodology and findings, and should not exceed 350 words. Proposals for panels should contain the rationale for the proposed panel (250 words) and abstracts of the participating researchers (250 words each).
